About Us

Belinda Currin, AIA, ACHA, CHC, LEED AP, has been practicing in the fields of construction and healthcare over 22 years.

For the past ²⁰ years, Ms. Currin, a board-certified healthcare architect licensed to practice architecture in multiple states, has focused on behavioral healthcare design, recovery centers and medical centers for the Department of Defense.

Her goal is to help clinical stakeholders develop existing or new spaces to more effectively serve their mission of patient care and recovery while building in design flexibility and support utility expansion capacity with full awareness of budgetary and regulatory compliance requirements.
